Japanese Challengers.HEAVY STORM ARISES
DURING INTERMISSIONShimizu Develops a Run of Errors, but He and Kumagae Put Up a Fast Game
at All Stages.The Associated Press.
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3.—
At 5:30 the rain ceased, the sun came out and preparations were made for the resumption of the doubles tennis match. The turf was in fairly good condition. About 2000 of the original 3000 spectators returned to the water-soaked stands.The Associated Press.
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 3.—
The American defenders of the Davis tennis cup won two sets out of three from the Japanese challengers before a heavy storm broke over the courts here. Tarpaulins have been stretched and play will be resumed later.At 5 o'clock the rain was still falling and the official announcement was made that in case the doubles match would be finished.
In case that a continuation of the rain prevented a resumption of the doubles play today the official announcement stated that two singles matches will be played on Monday and the unfinished doubles match of today carried over until Tuesday.There was a cooler breeze earlier in the day, which tempered the rays of the sun. About 8000 spectators were present. R. Norris Williams II and Watson M. Washburn, American defenders, faced Ichiji Kuma-gae
and Zeno Shimizu, Japanese challengers.The Americans won the first two sets, 2 to 6 and 7 to 5. The Japanese took the third set, 6-4.The Japanese team won the toss and elected to serve. Kuma-gae opened with a double fault and Williams and Washburn won the first game four points to one on their opponents' errors. With Williams serving, the American team also took the second game four to one on their placement work by Washburn.
The third game went to the Japanese with Shimizu serving after deuce had been called twice, the winning shot being two center court drives
from Shimizu's racket which shot
Williams and Washburn out.
The fourth and fifth games were also won by the Americans by point scores of five to three and four to one.The Americans won the second set, 7-5.The teamwork of Williams and Washburn was far superior to that of Kuma-gae and Shimizu, the latter being forced back of their own base line or so far back that the Japanese wins were made through which sure placement shots could be driven.Kuma-gae opened the service at the beginning of the second set. Williams and Washburn won the game
four points to two, on the opponents'
errors and a placement drive by Williams. The Japanese dropped the second game by a similar point score principally on their errors.Kuma-gae and Shimizu won the third game four points to two on errors made by Williams and a placement by Kuma-gae.The sixth game was a love victory for the Americans, both Williams and Washburn finding openings for clean placements aces. Kuma-gae and Shimizu came back and won the seventh game 4-1 on nets made by Washburn.The defending team made it four-all when they won the eighth game, 4-1, on errors by their opponents,
forced by the severity of Williams'
and Washburn's drives. The Japanese went into the lead, five games
to four, when they won the ninth, 4 to 1, on two outs by Washburn, a placement by Williams and placements by Shimizu.With the Japanese team within a point of the set in the tenth game Williams took a chance on a return by Kuma-gae being out and when his placement was verified, deuce was called. A moment later the Americans won, 5 to 2, making it five games all. The eleventh game was won by the Americans, 4 to 1, principally on clever cross-court shots by Williams.The twelfth and deciding game of the second set was won on cleanly-placed placements by both Williams and Washburn. The game was a love victory for the Americans and the points in the second set showed Williams and Washburn leading Ku-ma-gae and Shimizu 4 to 2.The Japanese team won the third set, 6-4.With the challengers leading and

CHICAGO, Sept. 3.—James Martin, former football star, has entered suit
for annulment of his marriage, alleging that he is no match for his wife. The suit is made in a case
"Cave Man." Martin accuses his wife of trying several times to shoot him, also of trying to run over him with his own automobile. He was too tough for her. The ground for annulment is that she had not been divorced a year when she married him.

The Duchess de Vallombrosa, allied by birth and marriage to the most illustrious families of the French nobility, and whose wealth and youthful-loveliness have won her the unquestioned leadership in the ultra fashionable "cru" of cosmopolitan Paris, is being sued for absolute divorce in the French courts. The Duchess has mentioned the names of 43 men, some of them far inferior socially to herself and his wife, in his formal charges which the Duchess, in accord with French procedure
thus far has left unanswered.The shimmy dance has gained a famous place among the titled rich of the French capital, and early numbered the beautiful young noblewoman—she is only 21—among its most enthusiastic exponents.A splendid dancer of the old

Duchess was one of the first Parisi-

HOPE OF LINKING
SAUSAGE AND GOLF
COSTS MAN $45Prospect of Furnishing "Large Country Club" With His Links Alluring to Joseph Kleimer.The prospect of establishing his sausage links as one of the features of a "large country club," so that in time they might even vie with the golf links, was so alluring to Joseph Kleimer, a sausage manufacturer, of 2842 South Seventh street, that he unhesitatingly loaned $45 to a stranger, taking as security two watches which have been appraised
as worth about $10 each.The stranger visited Kleimer several days ago and introduced himself as the manager of a country club on the Henry Ferry road. Only good sausage was lacking to make the club a success, he said, and only Kleimer could supply sausages which would meet the fastidious requirements of the club members.The "club manager" offered to Kleimer a contract to supply all of the sausage to be used by the club.
He would have the contract drawn up in a few days. Meanwhile, it was most embarrassing, but he found himself out of ready cash. Would Kleimer lend him $45 on two watches? With visions of an endless chain of sausages, like the tie that binds, moving from his factory to the "large country club," Kleimer readily agreed to make the loan. He even went with the manager to a bank, where he drew the money and handed it over to the prospective sausage buyer.The stranger promised to return in a few days with the contract and the money. After waiting a reasonable time without receiving a sausage order or a money order, Kleimer yesterday reported the transaction to the police.11 MEN IN LIFEBOAT MISSING

BADOLLO GREETED
HERE BY MANY OF
HIS COUNTRYMENFormer Chief of Staff of Italian Army to Officially Thank St. Louis Italians
for Aid in the War.WELCOMED TO CITY
BY COMMITTEE OF 100Program for the Day Includes Trip to Jefferson Barracks, Luncheon, Dinner and Mass Meeting at Armory.There was a marshaling of red, green and white flags, accompanied by the shrill strains of Garibaldi's hymn, in the downtown streets this morning, and fruit stores on the North Side were closed while hundreds of St. Louisans of Italian descent thronged around Hotel Statler
to pay vociferous devotion to Gen.
Pietro Badoglio, one of the men who saved Italy after the great disaster at Caporetto, in 1918.The former Chief of Staff of the Italian Army arrived in St. Louis at 8:30 o'clock last night, accompanied by his staff. He was officially received at Union Station by a committee of 100 citizens, headed by Mayor Kiel; Col. John H. Parker,
commandant at Jefferson Barracks,
and the Italian Consul, R. de Violini,
and, in addition, was noisily welcomed by several thousand of his countrymen resident here, who swarmed into the Midway, and dotted the street corners on the route from the station to the hotel.Gen. Badoglio, who will go down in history as one of the military geniuses whom the war brought out,
is on an official mission to this country to thank the 240,000 residents of America for the support which they gave their motherland
during the war. Capt. Carlos Huntington, the General's aide and interpreter, said today that 240,000 Italians returned from this country to their native land to enlist in the army, before the United States declared war. Most of those who survived are now back here, and Gen.
Badoglio is an emissary of gratitude to them.There has been considerable error in statement of the comparative rank in the war. The fact is that his office in the Italian Army corresponded to that held in the American Army by Gen. Peyton C.
March, and to that held in the British Army, of Gen. Sir William Robertson.The circumstances under which he was elevated to that rank, and the events which followed his promotion, were of a nature to earn him glory on him. In the battle of Caporetto, the Austrian Army, with German divisions as "spearheads," broke through the Italian position, inflicted terrible losses, and sent the defenders back upon the Piave River. In this crisis, Gen. Badoglio, who had commanded an army corps,
was made Chief of Staff, and as such, of course, was entrusted with the responsibility of reorganizing
the army, and making new plans.Routed Austrian Army.
In conformity with these plans,
the Italian counter attack, routed
the Austrians in one of the most signal and decisive battles of the war,
and forced them to ask for an armistice. Gen. Badoglio today referred to this battle as the "Vittorio Veneto."In person, the General exhibits few of the Latin characteristics which Americans expect of an Italian. In the center of a sea of bobbing banners, blaring horns and shouting "Vivas" this morning, he

ITALIAN BELIEVES BROTHER WAS MURDERED HERE

Calagiero Daniel, Also Known as Colombo, Tells New York Police of Receiving Notice of Death.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—Calagiero Daniel, also known as Colombo, formerly of St. Louis, yesterday told detectives here that he believed his brother, Antonio Daniel, known as Joseph Colombo, was murdered in St. Louis, May 11 last, buried in Bellefontaine Cemetery.

He said his brother left home in automobile which later was found abandoned near the cemetery, and a short time later he received a note which read:

"We have killed your brother. I have buried him in this cemetery. You will meet the same man unless you get out of town quick."

Antonio Daniel reported he disappeared May 11. He lived at 1622 North Fourth street. He disappeared May 11 and an automobile in which he had left home was found abandoned near Bellefontaine Cemetery, south of his home. In newspaper advertisements, offered $100 reward information as to whether her husband was dead or alive.

The wife yesterday told a Post-Dispatch reporter that when her husband left home in his service car May 11 he had with him a pair of boots and a shotgun. These were not found in the abandoned car.

He said her husband had a brother, Charles, who lived at 1312 1/2 street, who departed from St. Louis hurriedly about a month after her husband's disappearance. The husband, she said, was an Italian form of "Charles." She supposed this is the brother now in New York, though she never heard that he received a letter informing him that her husband was murdered.

When reporting her husband's disappearance to the police, Mrs. Daniel said that when he left the car, he took with him his jewelry and about $100 of savings which he had been keeping in the house.

The police attach no importance to the alleged assertion that Colombo was buried in Bellefontaine cemetery, as they say the cemetery is carefully supervised by attendants without whose knowledge a body could not be made there.

It was stated at union headquarters that it was hoped employers would take back the same strikers without discrimination because of their union membership, and that it was hoped the strikers would be back at work not later than Tuesday the day after Labor Day.

PRINTERS' UNION QUITS CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Typographical No. 8 Resigns Following the Referendum Taken on Question of Open Shop.

METHODS ARE TERMED UNFAIR IN LETTER

Secretary Bunn Replies to Charges Made by Percy Pepoon and Denies Solicitation of Votes.

St. Louis Typographical Union No. 8 today resigned its membership in the Chamber of Commerce, because of its dissatisfaction with the method of the chamber's recent referendum, in which 1439 members voted for "open shop" in industry as defined on the ballot, 46 voted for a closed non-union shop and 12 voted for a closed union shop.

The letter of resignation, signed by Percy Pepoon, president of the union, says in part:

"It appears that a vote of an insignificant one-third of the membership of the Chamber of Commerce was nominally obtained by the device of an arbitrary ruling by the board of directors, that numerous circulars were sent to members urging them to vote, and personal solicitation was used as a last resort."

And to obtain the votes of a minor fraction of the members it was also thought necessary to deceptively word the ballot, describing the open shop as something which it is not.

"In St. L. there are about 170 union printing plants and some 56 nonunion printing houses, styling themselves 'The Open Shop Printers of St. Louis.' These 'open shop' plants compel their employees to sign the following contract:

"From date hereof I accept employment by which employment is given on the following condition:

"That I am not a member of a labor union; that said employer, during my said employment I will not become a member of any labor union, and will have no dealings, communications or interviews with the officers, agents or members of any labor union in relation to membership by me in any labor union or in relation to my said employment."

"Stipulations like the foregoing are tantamount to the interests of most 'open' shops in all industries as well as in the printing industry. If any member of the Chamber of Commerce doubts this he can convince himself by applying for work at any 'open' shop."

Referendum Termed Unfair.
"St. Louis Typographical Union No. 8 knows this referendum is no fair expression of even the small portion of the membership voting. But by this manipulation, the Chamber of Commerce is placed by its Board of Directors in a position of antagonism to the interests of the city. Constantly lowering wages through the attacks of the open shop element, henceforth publicly backed by the Chamber of Commerce, mean continued strife and turmoil in our industries and increased paralysis in business. As a business proposition the Chamber of Commerce has taken the worst possible course."

"St. Louis Typographical Union No. 8 will have no part in this injury to St. Louis, and hereby withdraws from membership in the Chamber of Commerce."

Secretary Bunn of the Chamber of Commerce said today that the by-laws of the chamber specify that a one-third vote of the membership in a referendum shall be a binding expression of the chamber. He said that the rule requiring that only members held in the name of some individual was made because many firms desiring to add the chamber's work take five or 10 members and have no one in their employ to whom they desire to designate as members.

"It is the chamber's opinion that a bill cannot vote, but that votes must be cast by some individual," Bunn said, "hence the rule."

Solicitation Is Denied.
The postponement of the final date for casting of ballots, Bunn continued, "was occasioned first by a delay in getting the ballots to the printer. The only solicitation that members vote done by the chamber was sending of notes to members known to have been out of town in which it was called to their attention that a referendum was in progress. Nothing was said to influence their vote. I am told that parties interested in the referendum did work for and against some of the propositions."

"Concerning the definition of the open shop as stated on the ballot, I can only say that we took a large number of definitions as given here and elsewhere and combined them into what was regarded as a simple, straightforward definition and the

Gen. Pietro Badoglio and Scene at Dinner in His Honor Last Night at Hotel Statler

BADOGGIO GREETED HERE BY MANY OF HIS COUNTRYMEN

The First Regiment Army, Grand avenue and Market street. Before a mass meeting of Italian Army veterans he will formally tender the thanks of the Italian King and people for their service. This meeting will be open to the public. Preceding it, the General will be the guest of honor at a dinner at the Statler.

In interviews last night and today, the visiting soldier said that he and the Italian people are strongly in favor of disarmament, and are looking forward hopefully to the conference proposed by the United States.

As a matter of fact, we have already reduced our army to a point smaller than it was before the war," he said. "Our old enemy, Austria, has been destroyed, and we have nothing to fear from other nations. Italy suffered heavily from the war. We do not want our children to undergo such tragedy."

Referring to the recent American bombing tests, General Badoglio said nothing developed which gave any basis for believing that aircraft would supplement battleships on the sea. "The very element which would determine the success or failure of the aircraft, that is, anti-aircraft fire, was necessarily missing from the demonstrations," he said.

Address to Italians.
In an address to Italians of the city, copies of which the General handed to reporters, he said: "My country has sent me here to thank you for what you did, and the help you gave her during the war. These thanks are for those who went back to Italy and fought for their country, and to those who fought also in the American army. She also thanks those who helped through their work and their financial resources."

After the armistice a great part of the army was used to re-forest the territory that had been devastated by the enemy. With our artillery, tanks and trucks, our soldiers plowed 350,000 acres of land. In the past year we have put into the Treasury ten billion lira, so that now the national debt is only four billion lira."

"We owe great gratitude to America for the hospitality and liberty she extends to you who came over here to work and to better yourselves. Many Italians consider the United States as a second mother, and as such you owe her respect and gratitude. And I must not forget to remind you of the great help that America gave the allies in the war. If she had kept out I frankly cannot tell you how the war would have ended."

Advice to Countrymen.
"Let me give you, in conclusion, some advice. We won our battles because we were united. In the face of death we did not ask each other our beliefs in religion, or politics. In your competition for labor and work, I request the same of you—unity of purpose and ideals—and I wish you all to carry your heads high and be proud that you are Italians."

The General and his party will depart tomorrow morning for Cincinnati, and thence to New York for passage home. He arrived in this country in July.

members were voting on that definition, not on what some industry might be practicing."

"The fact is the chamber cast almost two and one-half times as many votes in this referendum as its members did on the same problem when referred by the United States Chamber of Commerce. The vote in this referendum was greater than any vote in any previous referendum submitted."

ASSOCIATION ON NEW CONSTITUTION PLANS CAMPAIGN

Will Confine Efforts as to Delegates to the Fifteen to Be Chosen at Large From State.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 3.—Definite plans for continuing the work of the new Constitution Association of Missouri, which conducted the campaigns leading up to the adoption of the constitutional amendment in November, 1920, providing a modern method of obtaining a new State Constitution and the election last month at which the constitutional convention was convened, were adopted at a meeting of the association at Hotel Baltimore yesterday.

The plans contemplate a campaign to attract the election of able men and women possessing the highest qualifications for delegates to the convention and authorized the committee to "solicit and encourage the securing of our ablest men and women to become candidates" and authorized it to "take all proper action and steps in securing the selection of a set of 15 nonpartisan delegates at large."

The association was attempting to control the drafting of the new Constitution, and that it would prejudice in the minds of the people any instrument that was drafted by the convention.

Atkinson explained that there was no intention upon his part or upon the part of any others active in the affairs of the association to control the convention and said that the only purpose of the resolution was to create a body which would be charged with the duty of inducing persons of proper qualifications to seek seats in the convention.

He expressed a willingness to amend the resolution to meet the objections which were raised and with Mrs. Martin and former Senator A. E. L. Gardner of St. Louis County prepared changes which limited the activities of the committee to delegates at large, and eliminated the provision authorizing the committee to take action in connection with the election of delegates.

As adopted the activities of the committee are to end with efforts to induce candidates to file for the seats.

J. Lionberger Davis of St. Louis explained that because of alterations being made in the boundaries of senatorial districts in St. Louis it will not be feasible to hold the election for delegates until January and suggested Jan. 17 as the date. A committee was authorized to confer with Gov. Hyde regarding the date for the election.

R. F. McNally of St. Louis was named chairman of the Finance Committee, which will consist of 17 members, one from each congressional district. The other members will be named by Dr. Black, president of the association.

Dr. Black also was authorized to appoint a committee to meet the organization taking part in the proceedings. Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd, Jos. B. Shannon of Kansas City and Chairman Yancey of the Democratic State Committee were interested on-lookers but had no part in the debate.

The meeting was attended by about 200 persons, about half of whom were women.

No Political Activity.
There was no indication of any effort by politicians to control the meeting yesterday, no person actively identified with any political organization taking part in the proceedings. Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd, Jos. B. Shannon of Kansas City and Chairman Yancey of the Democratic State Committee were interested on-lookers but had no part in the debate.

The meeting was attended by about 200 persons, about half of whom were women.

PORTAL TO STAND FOR 100 YEARS OF PEACE

Unfortified Boundary Between
U. S. and Canada Shows
World Is Growing Wiser,
President Writes.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—An unfortified boundary line more than 3000 miles long between the United States and Canada is the best testimony that the world grows wiser and better, President Harding said in a letter today to be read at the dedication of a peace portal in commemoration of more than a century of uninterrupted peace between America and Great Britain.

The portal, to be dedicated Sept. 6, on the international line, was conceived by Samuel Hill of Seattle. In recognition of the significance of the occasion, the President wrote Hill as follows:

"The ancient Romans erected a temple to Janus, a dispenser of peace and war, and ordered that its gates should never be closed while the nation was at war. In seven centuries they are said to have been closed but three times. You have erected a temple of peace, whose gates are never to be closed save in war. Already it stands for more than a century of unbroken peace between Britain and America and we all join in the hope that in coming times it may commemorate an era of peace much longer than the period of wars for which the temple of Janus stood."

"Our century and more of peace with the British Empire; our relations of unbroken amity with Canada, the fact that a boundary line over 3000 miles remains unfortified—these are the testimonies that the world grows wiser and better. All mankind looks to this example, yearns to follow it, and we are justified to believe that a time is at hand when it may take a long step in that direction. On the occasion of dedication of the Pacific peace portal, I wish to convey to you personally my high appreciation of your patriotic service in providing a symbolic shrine to international peace; in doing so, I would like to thank you for the peace portal, the builder of the portal, for the fine co-operation it has rendered."

Schucart, 1229 Waldron avenue, University City, a department manager for the Rice-Stix Dry Goods Co., last night forced open the door of a wine cellar and stole liquors valued by Schucart at $3000. Tracks of a large truck were found in the rear of the residence.

The liquor stolen, as listed by Schucart in his report to the police, was 60 quarts of Old Crow whiskey, 42 quarts of Spring Hill whiskey, 94 half-pint bottles of Oscar Pepper whiskey, 60 quarts of gin, 12 quarts of brandy, 24 quarts of imported wine, 24 quarts of cherry wine, 24 quarts of angelica wine, 24 quarts of vermouth and two quarts of creme de menthe.

Justifiable Homicide Verdict.
A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned by a Coroner's jury today at the inquest over Daniel McCarthy of 1503 South Broadway, who was shot and killed by a policeman Thursday night while riding with the driver of a taxicab which had been stolen.

In the pursuit of the taxicab nine policemen fired 20 or more shots at it. There was no evidence to show which policeman fired the shot that killed McCarthy who was found dead in the taxicab after the driver had abandoned it at Eighth and O'Fallon streets and escaped.

FOUR BILLS PASSED AT SPECIAL SESSION VETOED BY GOV. HYDE

Executive Fails to Explain Why He Rejected Measures of Minor Importance.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 3.—Four bills passed by the special session of the Legislature were vetoed last night by Gov. Hyde, as the period during which he could pass upon them expired at midnight.

These bills, all of which originated in the House, were:

To repeal a section of an appropriation bill passed by the regular session of the Legislature applying to the Department of Finance; enacting a new appropriation bill for the Department of Finance; to allow counties or road districts having issued road bonds to deposit them with the County Treasurer; levy a tax to retire them and use the funds thus obtained to carry out the purpose for which the bonds were authorized; to deprive the City Assessor of St. Louis of fees collected by him for assessing the State income tax.

This change with regard to the Assessor of St. Louis, however, was taken care of in the bill passed at the special session and signed by the Governor, making the office elective. Hyde did not explain why he vetoed any of these measures, the veto message containing only two lines.

ADMITS KILLING MAN WITH HATCHET WHEN DENIED LOAN

William Nelson Confesses to Murder of Louis Zipp in Rooming House May 17, According to Police.

William Nelson, 52 years old, of 312 Convent street, today confessed at Police Headquarters that he killed Louis Zipp, 55 years old, with a hatchet in a rooming house at 108 South Sixteenth street May 27 last, the motive being robbery.

Nelson, who lived in the rooming house, disappeared shortly after the killing and the police had been searching for him. The arrest was made by Patrolman William Slezak, who walked the beat on which the murder was committed and who had been working on the case while on duty and on his own time.

Strikes Victim With Hatchet.
In his confession, Nelson said he killed Zipp because of Zipp's refusal to lend him $100 with which to start a rooming house. He went to Zipp's room, he said, and asked for the money. When Zipp refused to let him have it he said to Zipp: "You've got money, haven't you?" and Zipp replied: "Yes, but I can't let you have it." Nelson said he struck Zipp with his first and knocked him down and then seeing a hatchet lying on the floor he picked it up and struck Zipp on the head with it several times. He then took $20 which he found on a mantel and fled.

Nelson's wife, Alice, at that time was rooming at 2327 Clark avenue. In his confession he said he told her of the killing and gave her $15 and they went to Herrin, Ill., together. They returned to St. Louis three weeks ago.

Wife Tells Different Story.
Mrs. Nelson, who also was arrested, denied that her husband told her of the killing. She said he told her only that he was in trouble and would have to leave town. He gave her $5, she said, but she did not know the money had been stolen.

EMPLOYERS URGED TO MAKE JOBS FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

Chairman of Chamber of Commerce Committee Appeals for Places for 2000 Veterans.

An appeal to employers of labor and to individual citizens to give jobs to former service men, and if they have no jobs to create jobs, was made today in a public statement by Robert E. Adreon, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee on unemployment, which was organized following last week's parade of jobless service men.

The subcommittee, at a meeting yesterday, made arrangements for the consolidation of the employment bureaus of the Red Cross, Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, Salvation Army and Former Service Men's Employment Bureau, established a week ago by the men themselves, in what is to be known as the War Veterans' Centralized Employment Bureau to be opened Tuesday in the Chamber of Commerce.

Text of statement:
Adreon's statement follows:
"Every resident of St. Louis, who has a job of work to be done, or is willing to create a job, whether for one day or permanently, and regardless of the nature of the work, is requested to notify the bureau to send an ex-service man to fill the place. Every effort will be made to send a man who is fitted by experience for the kind of work to be done."

There are approximately 2000 ex-service men, residents of St. Louis and immediate vicinity, who are in need of jobs. There ought to be 2000 persons or firms who each can find some kind of a job for at least one man. If that were done the question would be solved, so far as the veterans are concerned, and they are the ones to whom the public owes its first duty.

Those who saw the parade of the 200 jobless men last week will not need any further explanation. It was an impressive sight. The majority of them are in dire need, but they are not looking for charity; what they want is a chance to work and make an honest living.

Every Citizen Asked to Aid.

"This committee requests that every citizen ask himself isn't there some kind of a job, either temporary or permanent, that I can give to one of these men?—whether it be clerical work, bookkeeping, painting a fence, cutting weeds, caring for premises, acting as chauffeur, or any of the other numerous kinds of work that somebody has to do.

"When our country was in peril these men fought for it, at less compensation than any of us received who stayed at home. Now let's show them that we appreciate their work well enough to give them a chance to earn a living.
"Send in your telephone messages or letters at once, stating just how many men you can use, and the kind of men you want.
"The Chamber of Commerce feels that this is the most important piece of business before the community today and the committee urges that you who read this pause for a moment and give it your serious thought."

BARONESS ELIZABETH D'ESTE, FORMER ST. LOUISAN, DIES

Word Received That Daughter of Gen. W. S. Harney Expired in Morocco Aug. 10.

Word was received in St. Louis yesterday of the death in Morocco on Aug. 10 of Baroness Elizabeth d'Este, a sister of the late John M. Harney of St. Louis and daughter of Gen. William S. Harney of the Union Army.

She was born in St. Louis and spent her youth here. She was traveling in Europe with her mother and sisters when she married Count Ludovic de Menouze, a General in the French Army, and accompanied him when he was attached to the army of Maximilian in Mexico. After the death of the Count she married the Marquis de Lya, near Paris. She visited St. Louis at rare intervals, the last time about 20 years ago. For the past three years she had been with her daughter, Countess de Menouze, at Morocco, at whose home she died.

The nearest surviving relatives in St. Louis are a niece, Mrs. Nettie Harney Beauregard, custodian of the Missouri Historical Society, and nephews, L. L. Whittemore and Frank L. Harney.

FORMER ST. LOUISAN IS BURIED

The funeral of Nathaniel Myers, prominent New York lawyer and president of the Hebrew Technical School for Girls, New York, was held at that institution Wednesday. He was born in St. Louis in 1848, and left school at the age of 15 to become a telegraph messenger. He studied at night and became a student of law in the office of the firm of Shapley & Glover. He was admitted to the Missouri bar when 19 years old.

He removed to New York in 1881, and practiced corporation law, with an office in Wall street. He became president of the girls' school in 1900, and he worked to bring about the federation of Jewish philanthropic societies, into which 31 organizations finally entered.

POLICE FIRE SHOTS AT DRIVER AFTER HIS AUTO STRIKES MAN

Occupant of Machine Overtaken After Mile and Half Chase Denies Knowing He Injured Anyone.

Police men in a commandeered automobile fired a number of shots in a mile-and-a-half chase after Richard E. Putman, 32 years old, of 2174 Oregon avenue, at 11:30 o'clock last night, after Putman's automobile had knocked down Peter Cassimatis, 33, of 1719 Missouri avenue, proprietor of a cafe at 510 Chestnut street, as he alighted from a southbound Jefferson avenue car at Lafayette avenue.

Putman was caught at Theresa avenue and the Missouri Pacific Railroad tracks when he slowed down because the gates at the crossing were lowered. He said he did not know his machine had struck anyone and that he did not hear any shots.

Cassimatis was cut and bruised. Mrs. Hallin Sawyer, 27, of 7260 Sarah street, Maplewood, suffered a fractured rib and finger and scalp wounds at noon when an automobile she was driving collided with a parked car in front of 6911 Dale avenue and upset.

Reginald Toohey, 18, of 2438 North Spring avenue, a special delivery messenger for the Postoffice, was thrown from his motor cycle in collision with an automobile driven by William Wagner of 1424 A Belt avenue at Clayton and Billon avenues at 4 p. m. At the city hospital doctors said he had suffered internal injuries.

MEDALS AWARDED FOR BRAVERY IN DISASTERS

Posthumous Recognition of Heroism Also Made at Rescue Meet in Coliseum.

Twelve gold medals and diplomas were awarded at the International First Aid and Mine Rescue Meet at the Coliseum last night by the Joseph A. Holmes Safety Association in recognition of acts of bravery performed in mine disasters during the past year. Four of the awards were posthumous.

Frank Pierce, Leo M. Ryan, Herbert Farlin, George Reichert, K. P. Krueger and John Gregovich, all of Butte, Mont., received the award for heroic work in attempting to save the life of a miner who was unconscious at the 1000 foot level of the Anaconda Copper mine. Alex Ogilvie and Thomas Gold of Lehigh, Ok., were awarded for their work in contact with an electric wire and worked on him 45 minutes after he had been pronounced dead.

The posthumous awards were to Frank Henry Murphy and William Farrington of Franklin, Kan., Lasco Robinson and Clarence Williams of Degnan, Ok. Murphy and Farrington were killed in an attempt to rescue two miners who were caught in an explosion. Robinson and Williams lost their lives in an attempt to warn other miners of an accumulation of gas, which exploded, killing the two and eight others. The medals for them will go to the nearest relatives.

The medals were presented by H. Foster Bain, director of the United States Bureau of Mines and ex-officio president of the Holmes Association. G. W. Traer spoke on the life of Dr. Joseph A. Holmes, founder of modern first aid and mine rescue and prevention work, who was a member of the mining investigation committee in Illinois in 1909, and was the author of the Mine Rescue Commission bill, under which rescue stations were established, equipment provided and men trained for the work.

Mine rescue contests are in progress today at the Coliseum, which will continue until 5 o'clock. The winners of the first aid and rescue contests will be announced at a banquet tonight, at which Director Bain and Congressman M. E. Rhodes will speak.

JUDGE ORDERS BRIDE BROUGHT INTO COURT

Man Who Alleges Wife Was Kidnaped Obtains Writ in Effort to Regain Her.

Oscar Kossmehl, 28 years old, 2815 St. Vincent avenue, secretary of the J. I. Chappell Optical Co., 914 Olive street, filed a habeas corpus suit today against Police Sergeant Barney Venerloh, 2735 Armand place, for the restoration to him of his wife, Brigetta, 18 years old, who he says was kidnaped yesterday from the Chappell store. He will also ask for a warrant against Venerloh.

Circuit Judge Klene issued an order upon Venerloh to produce the young woman in court Tuesday and show cause why a writ should not be issued. Kossmehl and his lawyer, a Deputy Sheriff went to the Venerloh home to serve the order.

Venerloh is the stepfather of Mrs. Kossmehl. Although her maiden name was Venerloh, they are not related by blood. Both of her parents are dead. Venerloh is married again. Mrs. Kossmehl formerly lived at Washington, Mo. Prior to her marriage, Aug. 22, last, she lived with the family of an uncle and had been for 18 months employed by the Chappell company as a stenographer.

After her marriage she continued her employment temporarily until a successor could qualify. Today was to have been her last day as stenographer.

The marriage was opposed by her relatives because of religious differences. They were married at Centenary Methodist Church. Ever since, Kossmehl says, the relatives have annoyed her.

At 4:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when Kossmehl was in a rear room, he says Sgt. Venerloh in civilian garb and a patrolman in uniform and a chauffeur with his sleeves rolled up came in and Venerloh told Mrs. Kossmehl that his wife was sick and wanted to see her. She said she would call her husband and started toward the rear room. They seized her by the arms and forced her out of the store, other employees say. She called her husband but they forced her into a waiting automobile and drove quickly away just as Kossmehl reached the sidewalk. He caught only a glimpse of his wife.

Kossmehl consulted a lawyer, who went to see Venerloh. He reported to Kossmehl that Venerloh admitted having taken Mrs. Kossmehl away but said he did not know where she was.

"BERGADINE" FAILS TO OBEY COURT ORDER TO SURRENDER

Ernest Miller, alias "Bergadine," failed yesterday to surrender himself to the United States Marshal in accordance with the mandate of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, filed here Aug. 2, to begin serving a sentence of two years in the penitentiary imposed by Judge Faris April 9, 1920.

Miller was ordered committed to the penitentiary by the Court of Appeals when he failed to prosecute an appeal which came up for hearing at St. Paul last May. He is at liberty on $6000 bond.

Although arrested more than 100 times by the police, Miller never convicted until pronounced guilty by the Federal Court for the state shipments. There is a temporary pending against him in the case, from which he had a $16,000 bond.

THE TRUTH An Investigation Will Show

THAT for a number of years the colored citizens of the city have made repeated efforts to secure a respectable place for the burial of their dead;

THAT a site on the corner of Natural Bridge and Brown Roads, surrounded by large tracts of vacant land consisting of 75 acres, was submitted to them by a syndicate known as the Washington Security Trust;

THAT about 18 acres of this tract have been platted for cemetery purposes and that nearly 200 bodies are sleeping there, among them several soldiers, who died across the seas in the service of their country;

THAT a grove located in the northern portion of this land, away from the highway, consisting of 20 acres, which is not a part of the cemetery which is separately fenced and enclosed, has been used by churches and societies for their outdoor services;

THAT at no time since the establishment of Washington Park has the keeper's lodge and administrative building or any portion of the burial ground been used for frolics or recreation purposes.

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

ONE WAY'S AS GOOD AS ANOTHER.

If Tommy takes the chicken broth,
And with a bowl of indignation
Upsets it on the tablecloth,
His mother beams her admiration.
His instincts she would not repress,
As many mothers do, by scolding.
She says it isn't naughtiness,
It's just his little mind unfolding.

When Willie, sending up his kite
Attached his sister's kitten to it,
And cried with infantile delight,
"That's how the bombing airplanes do it!"
His mother did not interfere;
She murmured: "How can we expect him
To make himself a great career
If people hamper and correct him?"

When Polly wouldn't go to bed
As she was told to, with the chickens,
And stamped her feet and shook her head
And acted like the very dickens,
Her mother steadily declined
A general request to spank her.
Said she: "We must not fill her mind
With thoughts of bitterness and rancor!"

When you and I were little chaps,
On discipline our folks were keener.
They made no bones of using straps
For every childish misdemeanor.
Our smallest pranks they sternly chid,
They gave us fits for thoughtless blunders,
And yet, in spite of all they did,
We are not such a lot of wonders.
